Children’s books are purchased to support the children’s literature courses included in the Education Department’s curriculum. Caldecott and Newberry Award winners and Honor Books are given greatest weight in purchase decisions and are shelved in their own locations. Other recommended titles, including appropriate reference books, may be added as funding allows.